STRIKERS STONE MINE WORKERS AT OHIO SHAFT

One Man Seriously Hurt as Crowd of 1,000 Attacks Workers.

DEPUTIES ROUT MOB

Trouble Starts as Miners Refuse To Join Widespread Strike.

By The Associated Press

ZANESVILLE, O., April 5—A crowd of nearly 1,000 striking miners from adjoining bituminous coal fields stoned workers at the Muskingum coal mine near here early today, seriously injuring one man.

Harry Paul, 40, was struck on the head by one of the missives and received a fractured skull and numerous other injuries. He was brought to a Zanesville hospital.

The trouble started when 200 strikers from the Cannesville and Perry county fields attempted to persuade the workers to quit, although they were being paid $4.50 for day work with an added premium of 50 cents for loading coal. Threatened with a ducking in a nearby river, the strikers left, promising to return today.

With their forces increased to nearly 1,000, the strikers returned at 6 this morning and began stoning the mine tipple and all the workers in sight. Paul was bombarded as he drove up to the mine mouth. His condition is considered serious.

Sheriff William Curtis and a squad of deputies armed with tear gas and riot guns rushed to the mine and quieted the strikers.

The Muskingum mine has been working steadily for several months, and the 200 miners employed there indicated they did not care to join the strike of other mine workers in Ohio. Miners in the Hocking field quit February 1, in protest against a wage scale of $3.50 a day for laborers and 38 cents a ton for loaders.

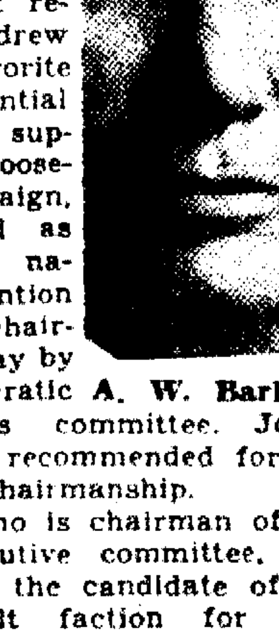
MARTINS FERRY, April 5—Three mines owned and operated by the Rail & River Coal Co., near here, were closed today when diggers failed to report for work. The miners were the Stewart, No. 6, and Big Run. Miners and officials of the United Mine Workers of America will hold a meeting late today at Moundsville.

ROOSEVELT BACKER CHOSEN KEYNOTER

Barkley Named by Democrats; Shouse Approved for Permanent Chairman.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 5—A supporter of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York—Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky—has been named to sound the keynote for the Democrats when they meet here June 27 to select their presidential candidate.



A. W. Barkley

Senator Barkley, who but recently withdrew as a "favorite son" presidential candidate to support the Roosevelt campaign, was selected as the party's national convention temporary chairman yesterday by the Democratic arrangements committee. Jouett Shouse was recommended for the permanent chairmanship.

Shouse, who is chairman of the party's executive committee, was regarded as the candidate of the anti-Roosevelt faction for keynoter.

The selection of both a temporary and a permanent chairman was viewed as a compromise between Gov. Roosevelt's supporters and their opponents on the committee.

It was an all-day session, apparently marked by spirited debate. Shouse, who presided, said, however, that harmony prevailed and that the recommendations are unanimous.

Governor Roosevelt at Albany said he was "very glad" to hear of Senator Barkley's selection.

He was an auhority on aero dynamics and was credited with inventing the lightest plane to fly with the smallest horsepower engine ever developed. He discovered the list and drift on arched surfaces by means of the wind tunnel.

GARDEN PLAN DISCUSSED AS RELIEF MOVE

Proposal Made To Use Vacant Lots To Raise Foodstuffs for Unemployed.

500 TRACTS AVAILABLE

Judge Scofield Offers 20-Acre Field for Use in Welfare Project.

Vacant lots in Marion will be transformed into gardens for the unemployed, and a municipal garden will raise produce in quantities for distribution among the needy if plans outlined at a meeting last night of a group of representatives of welfare organizations materialize.

Half of the program outlined, calling for the cultivation of vacant lots in the city by the unemployed, was adopted, and work to carry it out was begun. An investigation is being made by Mayor W. C. Phillians to determine whether the city feasibly can sponsor a municipal garden.

Donithen Calls Meeting

The garden possibilities in Marion were discussed in detail at the meeting, held in the offices of Donithen & Donithen. It was called by Alfred Donithen, chairman of the garden committee of the Family Welfare society. Present were George Turner, Dr. T. E. Sonnanstine, Wilbur S. Symes, president of the Community fund, all members of the committee with Donithen, W. D. Brown, manager of the Marion chamber of commerce, F. O. Tuttle of the Marion "At Work" Civic committee, Mayor W. C. Phillians, John P. Probst representing the welfare committee of the Council of 100, Mrs. Grover Snyder, head of the Federated Women's clubs, and Common Pleas Judge George B. Scofield.

The committee made an appeal to Marionites to donate the use of their vacant lots during the summer. Lot owners are urged to call the chamber of commerce office, telephone 2277, to offer the use of their lots. The chamber will act as a clearing house, keeping a record of available lots as well as a list of unemployed men who want and deserve the opportunity to cultivate a garden during the summer.

300 Names on File

Names of 300 jobless men wanting to raise produce next summer, both for their summer needs and for canning in anticipation of next winter's needs already are on file with the Marion "At Work" Civic committee, with headquarters in the chamber offices.

Mrs. Grover Snyder, acting for the Federated Women's clubs, accepted the committee's assignment to ask the cooperation of Marion county farmers through the grange and the Farm bureau through contributions of seed potatoes, sweet corn, beans, peas, and other produce. She made plans to call on each farm group in the county within the next few days in the interest of this solicitation.

It was estimated last night by W. T. Jones, local realtor, that 500 vacant lots in Marion are available for cultivation, if the owners would consent. He reported that many lots already have been pledged for garden use this year. It was also brought out that many

Seeks To Speed Action at Geneva To Help Solve World Problems.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 5—Declaring economic burdens and the menace to world peace had increased in recent months, President Hoover today said Secretary Stimson was going to Geneva in the hope of facilitating positive achievements by the armaments conference.

Addressing newspapermen at a conference, the President said the secretary of state was traveling abroad only in behalf of "some concrete and definite results" from the arms parley.

Mr. Stimson sails Friday.

"There will be no discussion or negotiations by the secretary on the debt question," Mr. Hoover stated.

FIRE MENACES LINDY'S HOME

MANY VOLUNTEER AID

Flames Travel Mile and Half; Hopewell Department Summoned.

By The Associated Press

HOPEWELL, N. J., April 5—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh fought side by side with more than 50 firemen, neighbors, police and newspaper reporters and cameramen today to beat out a brush fire that came dangerously near his white stone home.

Fanned by a strong wind, the fire which started about three quarters of a mile west of the Lindbergh estate, burned its way into the Lindbergh grounds and after traveling about a mile and a half attacked a pile of brush close to the Lindbergh house.

Two calls for aid were sent out from the Lindbergh home to the Hopewell volunteer fire department. Newspaper reporters and cameramen joined the volunteer firemen and armed with branches from spruce and fir trees attempted to beat back the flames.

The fire gradually forced them back toward the Lindbergh home and state police, detectives and Col. Lindbergh himself, hatless and clad in a blue suit, joined the fire fighters. The colonel worked with an ax and a branch from a spruce tree.

Object to Reporters

When the police recognized some newspapermen in the group of firefighters they remonstrated. Col. Lindbergh heard one of the reporters tell a policeman the group had been fighting the fire for more than an hour and told the police to "let those fellows alone."

"If they want to help, let them," the colonel added.

CAPONE BLAMED FOR COOK COUNTY STRIFE

Jailed Gangster Charged with Violence, Terrorism in Election Campaign; Jury Probe Starts.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 5—"Scarface Al" Capone is in jail but the city that breathed with relief at its riddance when his 11 year sentence was pronounced once more finds itself embroiled in as bitter a political strife as it ever was in the gang lord's heydey.

The figure of the overlord of crime, it is charged, has risen from within the walls of Cook county jail, to blight the hope of a peaceful primary election a week from today with terrorism and violence of old.

Rumors that Capone was trying to strengthen his political influence to escape serving his sentence for income tax evasion have been heard for some time.

A special grand jury investigation was ordered yesterday to determine to what extent if any, Capone and his hoodlums are employing terrorist tactics to force unfavorable candidates to withdraw.

President Fred W. Sargent of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad, said Capone "has a candidate for ward committeeman in the primary in every ward of Chicago.

"Capone," Sargent said, "has so gained control of law enforcement in Cook county that government is breaking down."

Candidates for ward committeemen have withdrawn hurriedly in recent days and told of being threatened. A precinct captain who refused to stop working for a certain candidate was shot to death.

The special grand jury inquiry was prompted by 17 alleged acts of pre-election violence and in which it was charged, Capone was trying to coerce the election committee to work for his pardon.

RELIEF PLAN FACING TEST

Hamilton County Plans Court Action To Determine Validity of Program.

TO SEEK QUICK RULING

Move Comes as White Signs Measure To Aid Ohio Jobless.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, O., April 5—Supreme court action to test the validity of the unemployment relief bond proposals of Governor White's relief program was contemplated by the Hamilton county commissioners today.

The commissioners today said they planned immediate issuance of $300,000 in notes against the $1,000,000 bond issue they considered they had been granted by acts passed by the recent special session of the legislature. Prosecutor Robert M. Gorman, as attorney for the commissioners, said mandamus action then would be instituted to determine the validity of the issue.

Question as to the status of the proposed bond issues was raised by Gorman after a telephone conversation last night with Howard L. Bevis, state director of finance. The prosecutor said he was informed the validity of the issue has been questioned by a Cleveland firm of bond lawyers, adding that "without the approval of recognized bond attorneys in the state, there would be no market for the bonds."

Gorman said agreement had been reached for issuance of the anticaption warrants by the Hamilton county commissioners, for rapid submission to the state relief and tax commissions, with mandamus action to follow should the tax commission, as anticipated, refuse to approve the proposed bond issue on the ground that the enabling act is unconstitutional.

On Vacation

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., April 5—I see where Secretary Stimson is going to take a vacation. He is going to the disarmament conference in Geneva. I was there at the opening; certainly was a picnic that day.

By the way, wonder what ever became of "Doc" Wolley that was a member of the original cast. She was as pleasant a nice soul as I ever met. I hated to see her banished like that.

I tell you the whole world is "cockeyed" and we mustn't be surprised at anything. Mr. Coolidge, who never said an unkind word against anybody, in fact, talks less than anybody, he pays $2,500 for talking too much. I look to see John D. Rockefeller Sr. arrested for vagrancy.

PLAN GROTTO MEETING

A. L. CONRAD

C. D. MITTENBUHLER

Two Marion men who will be in the limelight of state grotto affairs for the next seven months are shown in the accompanying photographs. They are Amos L. Conrad, monarch of Kadgar grotto of Marion, and C. D. Mittenbuhler, general chairman for the state convention to be held here next October. Both men are now busy making arrangements for the colorful spring ceremonial to be held here April 28.

State Ceremonial To Be Held Here as Forerunner to Convention.

The spring ceremonial of the state grotto, a masonic body, the forerunner of the annual state convention, will give Marion a colorful street parade and will bring 500 members of the grotto from a number of Ohio cities to this city April 28.

Plans for the ceremonial were announced today by C. D. Mittenbuhler, general chairman for the state grotto convention to be held here next October.

Bands To Lead Parade

State officers of the grotto will be among the visitors to take part in the ceremonial. Bands and drum corps will head a 7 p. m. parade from Hotel Harding to The Star auditorium where the ceremonial proper will be staged.

More than 100 candidates from Marion, Lima and Mansfield will be initiated during the ceremonial, which this year is dedicated to the honor of Carl L. Shaner of Youngstown, head of the grotto in Ohio.

Elaborate scenery and a cast for the first section of the degree work will be furnished by the Sandusky grotto. The Mansfield lodge will bring its Revels for the second section of the degree work.

The Columbus lodge band and patrol, Cincinnati drum corps, Sandusky drum corps and the Kadgar grotto band of Marion will take part in the street parade.

Reservation In

Reservations have been made for large delegations of visitors from Youngstown, Akron, Warren, Canton and Lima. Other cities are expected to send delegations.

A buffet luncheon and a vaudeville show will follow the ceremonial in The Star auditorium. As monarch of the local, Amos L. Conrad will play an important part in the ceremonial.

State officers expected to attend are Carl L. Shaner of Youngstown, president; Dwight J. Elder of Canton, first vice president; Ralph E. Garvin of Cleveland, second vice president; Thomas B. Fox of Cincinnati, third vice president; Lou McFarland of Akron, sergeant-at-arms; William C. Schmidt of Cleveland, secretary and treasurer.

HOOVER BACKS ECONOMY PLAN

SUGGESTS EXPENSE CUTS

Garner Says Democrats Are Ready To Act on Specific Recommendations.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 5—Answering congressional attacks upon his economy suggestions President Hoover said today that without the creation of a joint congressional-administration committee to consider the question he could "see no way by which there can be a maximum reduction in expenditures."

Only a short while before Speaker Garner had told newspapermen that if the President sent to the capitol specific suggestions for cutting federal cash outlays, the house would approve them and do it quickly.

Mr. Hoover, at his semi-weekly press conference, outlined "three general directions" in which he believes federal expenses may be reduced as much as $200,000,000 in an effort to balance the budget in conjunction with the new tax bill.

Tells of Recommendations

Referring to one of these, reorganization and consolidation of government functions, he asserted he had recommended such a step seven distinct times but that "the action recommended has not been taken."

The other two directions were direct reduction of appropriations and alteration of existing laws to reduce present unnecessary functions.

In the senate, Chairman Jones of the appropriations committee introduced legislation to carry out the presidential suggestion for a commission to go into the question.

Unless the Chief Executive submits to congress specific recommendations for consolidating bureaus and eliminating activities, the opposition party in congress intends to write its own economy program. Spokesman after spokesman made this clear in the reception given Mr. Hoover's special message yesterday.

At the same time the Democratic senate leadership has extended a hand across the aisle for cooperation with the Republicans in handling the billion-dollar revenue bill just in from the house, and the offer appears certain of welcome acceptance from the G. O. P. regulars. The major senate contest on the bill may develop with the move already started by independents of both parties to boost the surtax rates on the higher incomes to a figure above 40 per cent. maximum voted by the house.

The importance of government salary cuts in the economy scheme has been emphasized in support given the idea by such men as Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, and Senator Harrison, Democrat, of Mississippi. The latter today forecase, with regret, that a general slash was likely to materialize.

The house special economy committee yesterday approved bills to dispense with the army and navy transport service, with a claimed $2,000,000 annual reduction in expenditure; postpone indefinitely part of the government's big construction program in the capital at a saving of $750,000; and abolish the international water commission.

CHAPEL AT ILLINOIS PRISON DESTROYED

300 Convicts Help Joliet Fire Companies Fight Blaze.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

JOLIET, Ill., April 5—An old and trusted convict "tired of being shut up" and reverting to a pyromaniacal urge, set fire to the stone chapel in the state penitentiary.

* * *

JOLIET, Ill., April 5—Flames destroyed the interior of the old stone chapel in the state penitentiary today.

Three hundred convicts helped two Joliet fire companies fight the blaze, and there was no disorder. Guards watched the walls, and the rest of the prisoners were kept in their cells.

The fire was subdued in less than a half hour, but it wrecked the furnishings and licked a hole through the roof. Father Eligius Wier, chaplain of the old prison and a hero of the riots that broke out among prisoners a year ago, saved the records of the chapel.

Origin of today's blaze was not known.

TRAIL LEADS TO NEW ENGLAND

LINDBERGH PLANE BUSY

Back from Second Journey, Flier Asks Absolute Freedom from Questioning.

By The Associated Press

HOPEWELL, N. J., April 5—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who won his fame in the air, is using that same element in an attempt to get his stolen baby back.

Optimism permeates the home on Sourland mountain as the head of the household comes and goes on mysterious airplane journeys.

Twice in three days he has soared away, apparently seeking a yacht off the Massachusetts coast. The trips are believed to have some unexplained connection with rumors that ransom negotiations are being carried on with kidnapers who took Charles A. Lindbergh, 21 months old, from his crib, March 1.

Wants Absolute Freedom

Taking a personal hand in the hunt, which is enfolded in more mystery every day, he appeared for freedom from questioning about his movements.

"Col. Lindbergh feels that under existing circumstances he should be privileged to move without the incumbrance of either check-up or accounting," said a police statement.

Driving his own car, the flying Colonel slipped into his estate last midnight after his second airplane journey. About 3:30 p. m. yesterday he and his closest friend, Col. Henry Breckinridge, climbed over a back fence at Newark airport and sped away in a borrowed plane.

Later in the afternoon a plane identified by its number as the craft carrying Lindbergh was seen cruising over Martha's Vineyard island. It was in this vicinity also that Col. Lindbergh was reported seen flying Sunday.

When Lindbergh and Breckenridge started their flight yesterday, they carried a suitcase and a blanket. Many conjectures arose as to the reason for this, but none was verified.

Reports Optimism at Home

Dr. John Grier Hibben, president of Princeton university, who called at the Lindbergh home with his wife, said an "air of optimism" prevailed. Mrs. Hibben said Mrs. Lindbergh was bearing up well.

John Hughes Curtis, one of three Norfolk, Va., intermediaries who believe they have established contact with the kidnapers, was away from his home on another mysterious journey that has lasted since Saturday. There were reports, unconfirmed, that he also had headed for Martha's Vineyard.

Lindbergh Plane Kept in Trim

By The Associated Press

TETERBORO AIRPORT, N. J., April 5—Two mechanics arrived this morning and immediately started going over the high-wing monoplane Col. Charles A. Lindbergh used yesterday on his flight, presumably in connection with the search for his kidnaped son.

The mechanics said no one was permitted entrance to the hangar and closed the doors as soon as they had entered. They could be seen through a crack in the door working on the plane.

The ship is painted a cream color, with the top of the wings painted red. Its license number is NC 49 M.

Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf of the state police in his morning bulletin today said his headquarters had not requested the activities in Martha's Vineyard, and they "are probably an independent investigation by some other departments."

The police, he said, have had no contact with the kidnapers and have received no information of any kind about the return of the baby.

The major was uncommunicative this morning. He said he could not say a word about his mission and left his hotel before noon for an unannounced destination.

REV. COPUS TALKS AT CHURCH MEETING

North Robinson Minister and Group from Church Here for Evening.

Rev. Trenton O. Copus of North Robinson, O., with 25 men from the North Robinson United Brethren charge, attended a meeting last night of the Brotherhood of the First U. B. church of Marion.

Rev. Mr. Copus talked on the subject, "Betraying Christ," in which he said: "There are no two ways to the Christian religion. We are either for Christ or we are against Him. Many betray Christ through a pretense of friendship, through a compromise with sin, through coveteousness for money or by silence."

Members received into the Brotherhood last night, bring the total membership to 150 men. Billy Lucas and Virgil Geer sang two songs as a feature of the program. B. K. Hill led the male chorus in a song fest of Negro spirituals and secular songs.

Following the program at the church, refreshments were served in the community house by M. L. McDaniel and his Sunday school class of young men.

The chorus will go to North Robinson on May 10 as a return visit. Rev. Carl V. Roop, pastor of the local church, will deliver an address.

The Brotherhood will meet May 2.

VETO EXPECTED FOR BILL TO FREE ISLES

Hoover Likely To Turn Down Philippine Independence Act Passed by House.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 5—A veto apparently waits at the White House for legislation to grant independence to the Philippine islands.

By an astonishing margin—306 to 47—the Hare bill under which independence would come after eight or 10 years, passed the house yesterday. Later this session, this bill or a substitute for it will be taken up in the senate, with fair chances of passage. It may, therefore, be up to the President to meet this long-standing issue. The two members of his cabinet, most concerned in the question, are definitely and sharply opposed.

The house action, taken under the most stringent rules invoked since the Democrats took control, followed reading of a letter from Secretary Stimson in which turning loose the islands was condemned strongly. It preceded by a short time a jaunty: "just giving President Hoover something else to veto," uttered by Secretary Hurley. He qualified this remark under questioning, however, by observing it was "very hard" to determine what the President would do.

Denies Japan Seeks Philippine Rule

By The Associated Press

TOKYO, April 5—Possession or domination of the Philippines "would be as great a liability to Japan as it has been to the United States," a government spokesman said today, commenting on Secretary of State Stimson's suggestions that withdrawal of American sovereignty would result in the domination of the islands by some foreign power, "probably either China or Japan."

The spokesman expressed the belief that the Japanese government would willingly enter into a treaty with America perpetually guaranteeing the neutrality and independence of the islands in the event they gain their freedom.

Victim of Tragedy Buried in Potters Field.

The unidentified Cleveland woman who was for a time believed to have been Mrs. Lydia Bishop Lowenthal of Marion, was buried in the Cleveland potter's field yesterday, her identity still a mystery.

A middle-aged woman leaped from an eleventh story window of a Cleveland hotel last Wednesday and from a description of the body, and articles found in her room, Mrs. Mildred Caldwell of north Greenwood street thought for a time that the woman was her sister who had left Marion 10 years ago and has not been seen since by relatives here.

All efforts of Cleveland police to learn who the woman was proved futile. She had destroyed every clue before her leap.

SAYS BRIDGE IS SAFE

Ely Culbertson Thinks Game Needn't Spoil Matrimony.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 5—Take it from Ely Culbertson, you can be married, play bridge and still be happy.

The New York bridge expert, here to tell Chicagoans and others how the game is played, was asked if it was his personal experience that playing bridge and marriage were a bitter mixture.

"Only by obsevation," he replied. "Married folk probably should fight more than they do over their bridge games. The game provides a good peg upon which to hang their inhibitions. There has been only one marital murder resulting from a poor bridge play that I know of, but that doesn't compare with the homicide statistics of other marriage circumstances."

RADIO GUNFIRE NOT IMITATION

By The Associated Press

HAMMOND, Ind., April 5—The shooting the fans of radio station WWAE heard yesterday was real.

Roland G. Palmer was putting some realism into a drama of the air. He made a noise like galloping horses, howling wind and rain on the roof. Then he looked at his script and found a shooting was called for. So he reached for a gun and accidentally shot two of his fingers. He had to go to a hospital.

LEGAL LIGHTS OF "HONOR-SLAYING" TRIAL

With the opening of the trial of Mrs. Granville Fortescue and her three co-defendants for the so-called "honor slaying" of Joseph Kahahawai, this brilliant array of legal talent has attracted world interest to Honolulu. Left to right are: L. C. H. Johnson, U. S. N., advisor to defense counsel; Attorney Montgomery Winn; Clarence Darrow, chief defense counsel; Attorney George S. Leisure, and Public Prosecutor for the City of Honolulu, John C. Kelley. The first four named comprise the defense forces. Selection of the jury is expected to take a week or more.

DARROW LOSES IN LEGAL TILT

Prosecution, Defense Clash Frequently in Hawaiian Murder Trial.

By The Associated Press

HONOLULU, April 5—An early legal skirmish in the trial of the sensational Kahahawai murder case lost to a youthful assistant prosecutor, the veteran Clarence Darrow, noted criminal lawyer, returned today to the task of selecting a jury from panels composed of a medley of races.

A dramatic clash between Darrow, bent with age and slowly patient, and relentless young Barry S. Ulrich ended in victory for the assistant prosecutor and the seating of a juror Darrow tried to show was biased.

Shortly before that court fight, the 74-year-old Chicagoan lost a point to Prosecutor John C. Kelley, when the court ruled that whether Joseph Kahahawai was innocent or guilty of an assault upon Mrs. Thalia Massie had no bearing on the case.

Four on Trial

Mrs. Massie's mother and husband, with two sailors, are on trial for the lynching of the young Hawaiian. The mother, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, sat during the first day of the trial on the same bench as Kahahawai's father, mother and sister.

Nearby, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie bit his lips as he watched Darrow carefully sift the minds of the jurors.

Darrow's persistence in questioning veniremen aroused the ire of Ulrich early. The assistant prosecutor shouted angrily "the defense counsel is putting words in the juror's mouth" when the gray haired leader of the defense continued, despite objections, in his efforts to show Henry Beckley, Hawaiian, had already formed an opinion.

Circuit Judge Charles S. Davis permitted the veteran "defender" to continue his penetrating questioning. But Darrow's triumph lasted no longer than his examination of Beckley.

Faces Tedious Task

Today Beckley was, as Ulrich wished, among the six tentative jurors—two Chinese, two Americans, a Japanese and a Hawaiian.

For the rest of the week, Darrow indicated, he will maintain his endeavors to select an unbiased jury—a tedious task in the face of the widespread publicity the lynching received.

When 12 men are seated (women can not be jurors in Hawaii) each side may exercise 24 peremptory challenges.

Darrow thought the question of whether Kahahawai was involved in the assault upon Mrs. Massie last September might have an important bearing on the second degree murder trial. Kahahawai was awaiting retrial with four others when he was abducted and shot January 8.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO BANK ROBBERY

By The Associated Press

WILMINGTON, O., April 5—Oscar J. Smith, 35, of Columbus was arraigned before a justice of the peace here today on a charge of robbing the First National bank of Blanchester last Saturday. He pleaded not guilty, and was held to the grand jury under $10,000 bond.

Smith was arrested at Washington Courthouse five hours after the robbery, with a suit case in his possession containing more than $8,000. Officials of the bank identified him as the robber, though he denied the robbery, claiming he had never been in Blanchester.

SCARLET MASK CLUB LOSES RECOGNITION

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 5—The Scarlet Mask club, student dramatic organization at Ohio State university, today was homeless—at least officially.

University recognition of the club was withdrawn by President George W. Rightmire, on recommendation of the university council, because of irregularities in the conduct of this year's Scarlet Mask show, in which ineligible students participated. The president said withdrawal of recognition would become effective at once and "remain in effect indefinitely, or at least until Oct. 1, 1933."

Candidate for Congress Is Democratic Speaker

Paul F. Dye of Urbana Addresses Party Meeting in Headquarters Here.

Aid for the farmers on whose prosperity rests the basis of national prosperity was advocated by Paul F. Dye of Urbana, candidate for the Democratic nomination as congressman-at-large, in an address to 200 members of the Marion County Democratic club in the club headquarters last night.

Dye proposed a tariff on farm products to give the farmer protection on a par with manufacturers.

Promises of farm relief thus far have brought only grief, he declared. He criticized the reconstruction finance corporation, with its limit of a $400 loan to an individual, as an "aid" that led only to further borrowing.

In referring to the tariff, he declared that manufacturers now are moving their plants to Europe on profits received under the Republican tariff which does not protect the farmer.

Lower taxes, and a balanced budget should be accomplished through governmental economies and farm relief, he asserted.

Dye voiced opposition to the Eighteenth amendment and expressed favor of resubmitting the prohibition problem to the states.

PAUL F. DYE

Dye has been a member of the Democratic state central committee, which his father, T. E. Dye, formerly headed as chairman. He is 37, married and the father of three children.

The address followed a 6:30 p. m. basket dinner. President Clyde Ullom presided for the regular club session, and Harry Baker presided during the program. The Marion County Democratic club quartet, composed of Henry Ebert, Howard Orr, James A. Walsh and Forest Hill, furnished music. Democratic county candidates were introduced.

FINLAND abandoned prohibition and there was rejoicing.

But Finland's government will sell the liquor to the citizens, and now whisky is at $6.50 a bottle, brandy $9 a bottle, and there is wailing and gnashing of Finnish teeth.

Those prices are as high as American bootleg prices, but there is a difference.

The enormous profit in Finland goes to the government, to be used for old age and unemployment funds, prevention of illegal liquor traffic and government expenses generally.

In this fair land the hundreds of millions of annual profit go to the bootleggers and to officials that collect their share of bootleg profits.

Clear days were one thing March wasn't over-indulgent with. Only two days of the month were cloudless, the 15th and the 29th. Fifteen days were cloudy from sunrise to sunset and 14 were partly cloudy, making a grand total of 29 gloomy days out of a possible 31.

The lowest temperature ever registered in Marion in March was two below zero in 1900. Many years have enjoyed temperatures from 80 to 85 degrees in the month of the lion and lamb

The total rainfall for the month was 4.08 inches. The average for March is 3.64 inches.

Snowfall here while it was exceptional this year, was as nothing compared with the March of 1902 when 22 inches fell. The total snowfall here for the month was 4.5 inches

GARDENING PLAN DISCUSSED AT MEET

Proposal Made To Use Vacant Lots To Raise Foodstuffs for Unemployed.

Gardening as a municipal project was proposed by several members of the committee as the most advantageous method of taking advantage of an offer made last night by Judge Scofield who donated the use of a 20-acre tract west of Windsor street and south of Bellefontaine avenue for gardening purposes. He donated also the produce of an orchard of 130 trees, and said that large storage rooms in the old brewery building on Bellefontaine avenue would be available for storing produce raised on the land he donated.

Mayor To Study Plan

It was proposed that the city relief funds be used to purchase seeds and plants needed after the appeal for contributions of seeds has been made, and that unemployed men given work through the city relief funds be used in the cultivation of the land. By a small investment and the use of jobless men in cultivation, the department should be able to raise produce worth many times the investment cost, it was pointed out. This produce would be available for distribution among families already dependent on the city for food.

A. W. Newby, president of the Huber Manufacturing Co., has volunteered equipment of his company in plowing and harrowing up to 40 acres of land in large tracts for community gardening purposes.

Mayor Phillians stated he would confer with the finance committee of council, Service Director E. O. Uncapher, Safety Director Emery Murphy and other officials to determine the possibility of the city sponsoring a municipal garden.

A second meeting of the committee was scheduled for Friday night to receive Mayor Phillians' report and to make further plans to make use of the land donated by Judge Scofield.

Existing "prominent cases" will have to be tried under agencies as they exist, it was said. The judges "seem competent. The present prosecutor also seems competent, and it is to be hoped that the courts of the territory can function fearlessly and efficiently."

Voices Apprehension

On the last point Richardson commented:

"We have some apprehension as to the effect upon racial antagonism in the territory, due to violent partisanship existing in the island with respect to the pending rape and murder cases. What that situation may eventually be no man may at this time intelligently foresee."

The police administration in Honolulu was called "impotent, undisciplined, neglectful and unintelligent, with its chief concern political activity."

Letting chips fall where they might, Richardson summarized his own conclusions and those of a staff who spent two months in Hawaii and spent something under $10,000 on the inquiry. The document embraced about 100 pages of findings and recommendations and 15 volumes of testimony.

Finding "no serious criticism" of the courts, the report recommended that congress consider that a big saving could be effected by abolishing the district court, making the territorial supreme court the appelate tribunal for all island litigation.

PRIMARIES HELD IN TWO STATES

Wisconsin and New York Name Convention Delegates Today.

By The Associated Press

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 5—Wisconsin voters today had the alternative of indicating preference for two outstanding presidential candidates or electing delegates whose final vote at the Republican and Democratic conventions is problematic.

Rival factions in both parties conducted intensive campaigns which, with promises of good weather, were expected to bring out one of the largest votes in recent years.

Democrats had the opportunity to indorse the candidacy of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, by voting for a slate of delegate candidates pledged to support him.

Republicans were offered a conservative delegation who, although uninstructed, indorsed the administration of President Hoover at their state conference.

The LaFollette Progressive ticket and a so-called Callahan Democratic slate, the latter sponsored by John M. Callahan, Wisconsin Democratic national committeeman, furnished an outlet for voters who favored neither Hoover nor Roosevelt.

Delegates on the LaFollette Progressive ticket propose to vote for Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska for President. The Callahan group has not committed itself to a candidate but is generally regarded as favoring Alfred E. Smith.

FEW N. Y. CONTESTS

Empire State Primary Today Mostly Perfunctory.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 5—Selection of New York's district delegates to the Republican and Democratic national conventions today was a perfunctory proceeding in all but three of the 43 congressional districts.

There was one contest in the Democratic primary and two in the Republican.

The New York primaries do not bind delegates to support any aspirant for the presidential nomination. All of the Republicans, however, are favorable to President Hoover. There are both Smith and Roosevelt men in the Democratic list.

Glasses Clink in Finland as Saloons Reopen

By The Associated Press

HELSINGFORS, Finland, April 5—Hundreds of Finland's citizens lined up before Helsingfors' liquor shops this morning for the first legal sale of liquor in 13 years.

The first arrivals began to gather up before the doors at 5 a. m., although the shops were not open until 10 o'clock. The longest lines were in the working class sections of the city. Order prevailed everywhere, however.

Tables for tonight have been booked at many restaurants for several weeks, but protests by the restaurateurs against the low proportion of their profits, as fixed by the government regulations, may dampen the celebrations somewhat.

The Helsingfors police department issued a notice that it would arrest every person caught drunk.

Notwithstanding extremely adverse business conditions prevailing during the year 1931, the results accomplished by the Pennsylvania Railroad, while not satisfactory, were better than those attained by railroads generally and reflect credit upon the loyalty and fortitude of the officers and the employes.

Continued co-operation of stockholders, bondholders and employes is again solicited in securing additional passenger and freight traffic for the Pennsylvana Railroad.

Daily Proverb—When there is no hope there can be no endeavor.—Dr. Johnson

For failure to pay income taxes, the operator of a Toledo cigar store was fined $5,000 Monday. A lot of stuff will have to go up in smoke to make good on that proposition.

Japan evidently has started another sales campaign in Manchuria. Shanghai advices are to the effect that Nipponese planes dropped more than 100 bombs on the Manchurian town of Nungan, a day or two ago, setting it afire in many places.

The passing through the city of an Erie train, carrying five cars of undesirable aliens to the Atlantic seaboard for deportation, is a reminder that the federal immigration authorities are busy even though we do not often have a local demonstration of the fact.

Word has come from London that it has been definitely decided that the four-power conference, to be held there by representatives of France, Germany, Italy and Great Britain Wednesday, will not discuss means of extending financial aid to the Danube countries alone, but the whole of Europe's difficulties, including reparations, disarmament and war debts. This country will be interested in the result, even if it isn't represented.

After severing all telephone and telegraph wires leading into the town, making prisoners of the night watchman and five other persons picked up on the street and working two hours to cut a hole in the safe in the First National bank, of Le Roy, Kansas, cracksmen discovered what the watchman had known for three years—that it was empty. Even the newspapers given to that kind of stuff will never refer to the "master mind" behind that job.

There will be little occasion for the authorities of Columbia university to feel surprise should the threatened strike of students over the expulsion of the editor of the student publication eventuate tomorrow. Unless Columbia has greatly traduced, its teachings have not always been conducive to recognition of established authority.

It's possible that Mr. Hoover would like to make the same recommendation regarding the farm board as he has in the case of the shipping, but it would be unnatural for him to deal harshly with what may be taken as his own child.

Moscow reports the closing of soviet Russia's big $119,000,000 automobile plant with a capacity of 144,000 cars and trucks annually, for a drastic reorganization of forces, the trouble having been that there were too many bosses, the intimation being that each workman wanted to serve as a boss for himself regardless of the fact that the plant had an oversupply of bosses selected for the purpose of bossing. In a lesser degree, we see a similar tendency in our bureaus down in Washington.

An Experiment.

Automobile manufacturers in the low price field are sponsors of a vastly important experiment to determine the ability of large industries to manipulate a buying demand into being by a concerted effort. They have staked many fortunes on the belief that the public is ready to buy new automobiles and that by buying them and putting thousands of men back to work sufficient impetus will be given the industrial juggernaut to carry it out of the slough of hard times.

There is nothing of artificiality in the means of performing the experiment, and probably far less of idealism than might appear. Dependence is placed mainly in the public's ability to recognize value and the belief that there is a sufficient number of people who have both money and need for a new automobile to constitute a market for the product. If the manufacturers are right, they will profit and numerous lines of trade running parallel will benefit in proportion.

No selling argument is advanced, other than the merits of the products offered. In contrast to previous efforts to overcome the hard times, there have been no pleas, no calls to duty. It is a business experiment conducted by business policy. Manufacturers know that tens of thousands of Americans need and want new automobiles. They believe that a large number of them can be classed as potential buyers who will be persuaded by the greatest values ever offered them in low priced automobiles to spend their money. Skeptics who believe firmly that the country does not have the power to help itself in its predicament will do well to reflect that men in a position to know better than they could what the nation's capacity for recovery is have had confidence enough to stake hundreds of millions on a single throw.

Was It Temporary Defeat?

The sales tax has been cursed roundly and painted in gloomy colors by its opponents in recent weeks, but their wildest rantings and most powerful arguments have been unable to alter the fact that it is sound in principle and effective in practice. The United States may not be ready to admit its advantages yet, but just as long as methods of taxation are considered the sales tax will be mentioned prominently.

Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, who started the country talking about a sales tax last September with a proposal for a permanent general sales tax on all articles and commodities other than prime necessities, is feeling out sentiment in the senate on the subject. If there is a fair chance of success, he may try to revive discussion when the tax bill reaches his side of congress.

It is, of course, a general sales tax which the country has been encouraged to fear. Taxes on sales of specific commodities, just as truly sales taxes as any other, are common and will become more so if the house tax bill is enacted in anything approximating its present form. The type of sales tax to which Americans are reconciled, better known as nuisance taxes, differ from a general sales tax chiefly in the fact that they are visible, whereas levies collected under a general sales tax are invisible.

Anticipating what change of attitude may take place eventually, it is interesting to recall that in December, 1930, Senator Smoot, of Utah, said: "We must come to the sales tax some day. * * * Nobody can evade this tax. It does away with hordes of federal snoopers. It reduces the cost of collections. It eliminates costly law suits. Business can plan ahead for years, knowing exactly what tax it will have to pay. All uncertainty is eliminated. All confusion is ended. * * * The sales tax is the most effective, the most just, and the most equitable of all taxes. Its adoption is only a question of time."

This country has taken advantage of the productivity of sales taxes since 1794 when, at the instance of Alexander Hamilton, a tax was placed on property sold at auction. Such taxes were used extensively during the Civil War period. Sales taxes on specific commodities have been a dependable source of revenue for the treasury from the beginning of things, and if any one doubts that Senator Smoot is right when he says that adoption of a general sales tax is only a matter of time he need only examine the increasing popularity of the principle.

The objection that it does not take into account ability to pay is greatly overrated for the good reason that in this type of government there is not the slightest possibility of enacting a general sales tax without exempting prime necessities. If a secondary motive of taxation be to "soak the rich," and that motive seems to have came to stay, a general sales tax is a proper instrument. He who buys most pays most.

There is little likelihood, it may be said, that Senator Reed will find the present auspicious for testing the "sales taxes" in the senate. The opposition is too strong. But he knows and the clear thinking opponents of the tax know that as long as ways and means of collecting adequate revenue are to be sought a general sales tax is the most effective and the fairest means. Eventually, there will be a general recognition of that fact.

Before sailing from Rio Janeiro for New York, an American naturalist who has been exploring the Brazilian hinterland told newspaper men about many curious animals seen by him, among them a blue-tinted tiger. That's not so astounding. There have been cases where men have reported seeing light blue hippopotami with bright pink polka dots.

The recipient of more than 3,000 letters urging that he stand against any reduction in federal salaries, Senator Fess has again announced that he can not be influenced by such propaganda. What a pity that that is not true of all legislators. In that event, we might have laws for the general public rather than for special interests and classes.

Announcement of the thirty per cent. distribution being made to depositors of the Waldo bank, which was taken over by the state banking department December 19, came as pleasing news yesterday. The state banking department must be acclaimed for the manner in which it has handled the Waldo bank's affairs and turned over to its patrons so considerable a proportion of their deposits. Such a course is truly a matter for commendation.

The shipping lanes are to be moved sixty miles southward next Monday to put added distance between transatlantic shipping and something like 350 icebergs reported by the international patrol to be floating toward the lanes at an average speed of about twelve miles a day, which will mean the adding of from 200 to 300 miles to transatlantic crossings. The change will mean added losses to the shipping interests, which have not been doing overly well for a year or two, but the added cost is pretty cheap insurance against life and property loss, at that.

Mr. Stone states that cuts in the salaries of members of the farm board and its affiliated organizations, without corresponding cuts in the salaries of members of other boards, would give the impression that congress didn't think highly of the farm organization. Such might be the inference, but even at that there wouldn't be any implication of special esteem on the part of congress for certain other boards.

It's hard to say whether the house passed the bill to give the Philippines independence in eight years as a mere gesture or voted as it did in resentment of Secretary Stimson's letter to a member of the upper house of congress in which he gave warning of what he held would be the consequences of congressional action along that line at this time. The house, as is known, sometimes resorts to similar gestures, but, on the other hand, Mr. Stimson is not always diplomatic as a note writer, and the house has been awfully jumpy, of late.

BRITAIN MUDDLES THROUGH.

England ends her fiscal year with a balanced budget. There is naturally rejoicing in the tight little isle. It is shared by people of moderate means who pay income taxes at a rate that would make an American howl with anguish. The balancing of the budget may be called a case of muddling through. It may be pointed out that by requiring the payment of three-quarters of the income tax in March instead of the usual half, this year's budget has been balanced by what in effect is a borrowing from the revenues properly belonging to the year to come. But the fact remains that the budget is balanced. And there is assurance that the budget of the next year will likewise balance, presumably with the aid of a continuance of the enlarged March payment.

The British government reports revenues from all sources during the fiscal year now ended of 770,963,000 pounds, the equivalent of $2,828,659,000. Expenditures ran 364,000 pounds under receipts. In other words there was a surplus equivalent to about $1,383,000. It was made possible in large measure by increased income taxes with lowered exemptions. Notwithstanding this heavier burden, it is reported that payments were made promptly. If accounts are to be believed they were made cheerfully and gave evidence of a determination on the part of the people to help the government out of its difficulties.

It is of significance as bearing upon American affairs that the end of the fiscal year in Great Britain comes at the time when effort is under way in this country to balance its budget. What England has done the United States may do. The danger that it would shirk the task seems to be over. The revenue bill, whatever its final form, will not meet with unanimous approval. It will contain what to many will seem to be injustices. But the American people should have it enforced upon their consciousness that it lays no burdens as heavy as those imposed by revenue measures in England. If comparison is made with the British standard, taxes here will still be light.

What has happened in England and what it is to be expected will be done in this country for the fiscal year to end in June, 1933, have obvious bearing upon the duration of the business depression. Unbalanced budgets in two great nations would tend to its deepening and prolongation. The balancing of the budgets is a spur to that confidence in the future which must obtain if the present troubles of the world are speedily to come to an end. The news from England is thus to be included in the cheerful tidings of the day.—Boston Transcript.

OPERA IN HARD TIMES.

Grand opera and symphonic music were not the first to feel the pinch of cautious spending and deflated purchasing power, but now the impact of economy has reached these rarified heights. In New York the best efforts of opera enthusiasts appear insufficient to assure another season on the same scale. Chicago has been obliged to forego its summer season at Ravinia for lack of funds.

It is a difficult question, this matter of luxuries which have a special cultural value. Undeniably the demands of charities that involve sustenance and comfort for millions of persons must be met.

Yet it is most desirable that these rich cultured traditions be kept functioning if at all possible. Such institutions, which give character and distinction to a community and real pleasure to many thousands of people, are worth making sacrifices for. Their unique value is lost when the continuity of their life is broken. It might take years to restore the standards of taste that have been matured by these traditions, if they are allowed to lapse for even a short time during depression.

As in many other matters, some compromise must be found. We must look first at the pressing needs of our community for the present, and at the same time give thought to the maintenance of traditions that will be insignificant long after this depression is forgotten. To meet the needs of the moment, in terms of the long future, is the task alike of community leaders and individual citizens.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Goiter Can Be Cured.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

In the front of the neck, close to the Adam's apple, is an important structure, the thyroid gland. When this gland enlarges we have the condition known as goiter.

Simple goiter is caused by a deficiency of iodine in the diet and is common in regions where iodine is lacking in the drinking water or in the food supply. It is a frequent disorder of people living in Switzerland, where the water lacks iodine. In our country it is most common in the Great Lakes region, where school children as well as adults are afflicted. The condition affects girls more often than boys.

As a rule there are no disturbances in the general health, and appetite and nutrition are not impaired, but simple goiter, if neglected, may produce serious ailments.

Goiter is easily and quickly recognized by the swelling of the gland in the neck.

Fortunately, since it is known that a lack of iodine in the water and food produces goiter, it may be prevented by the addition of iodine to the diet. In sections where goiter is prevalent, health officials administer iodine to school children at definite periods. In some sections iodine in small quantities is added to the municipal water supply.

Iodine should never be used in the water supply, however, unless there is a definite iodine deficiency in the community. It should never be taken as a medicine, certainly, without the consent and supervision of a physician. It is a harmless preparation when used scientifically, but can do great damage when taken unnecessarily.

Under normal conditions, the body requires a very small amount of iodine. This is well taken care of by the food we eat. It is well to remember that shellfish, such as scallops and oysters, are an excellent source of iodine, and this food should be included in the diet at least once a week.

Never neglect any swelling or tumor-like growth of the neck. I am sorry to say that many individuals overlook the importance of this condition. They hesitate to consult a physician for they fear the "knife." This is one condition where it rarely happens that surgery is necessary. However, there are certain thyroid growths that require operation. In these cases delay is dangerous.

City That Gold Built.

BY TEMPLE MANNING

Always the eyes of the world are directed toward Africa. And of late years tourists, seeking that elusive "something new," have made trips to Africa, always returning to explore another region of that part of that continent that has excited vast [illegible] thoughts of man because of its diamonds and gold. And antiquarians and scholars go to Africa in their endeavor to read from its fantastic [illegible] chapters that will enlighten the world about the people, primitive, yet civilized, that once dwelt in the Transvaal and [illegible]. And big-game hunters organize enthusiastic parties where very often more shooting is done with the camera than with the rifle.

From the moment the traveler lands at Cape Town he finds himself transported to a magic land. The majority of visitors travel at least to the famous Johannesburg to view the gold mines and then journey by auto for a beautiful [illegible] of about an hour's duration to view the [illegible] workings. And then, ambitious souls [illegible] going to Rhodesia and trying their hand at a little wild-game hunting. For myself I prefer to watch the king of beasts roaming [illegible] wonderful Kruger National park, surely one of the most fascinating of all national parks, because of the glorious surroundings and the unexcelled collection of great jungle beasts that roam its endless tracts. Of course, for the big-game hunter, Rhodesia is the last word.

There is a great deal to be seen at Jo'burg, and visitors generally find their time well taken up. The city has luxurious hotels, smart [illegible] shops and up-to-date department stores. Men invariably want to be taken to the famous Rand club, for they know that in its rooms have lounged all the great figures of the romance connected with mining.

The suburbs of Johannesburg are wonderfully laid out and have superb scenery. Tropical flowers, purple trees, flaring red blossoms, green groves mark the streets. There are tennis, golf and automobile clubs, as well appointed and well run as any clubs in the world. But, of course, the main attraction is a visit to the mines. For gold has always lured man, and the curiosity to see the great workings is enormous.

Old clothing must be worn, and we are glad of it as we slip into the mining elevator cages and are lowered rapidly to perhaps four thousand feet below the surface of the earth. A cooling system and fresh-water system have been installed, but as we descend the heat increases. But it doesn't seem to bother the Zulus and native workers as they toil several thousand feet beneath the earth, piling the ore into huge cars that are run by electricity to the elevators, where they are hoisted and where the ore is run into crushing machines. Of course, there isn't much loose gold lying around, not because the honesty of the visitors is doubted, but because it takes more than a cubic ton of rock to produce one cubic inch of gold. But we did see some huge bars of gold awaiting shipment, and only one glance at the yellow metal makes even the most unimaginative understand why man adopted gold as the symbol and basis of wealth.

Very often the mine managers stage war dances performed by the native workers. More than [illegible] natives from various parts of Africa are employed in these mines, and the dance is their greatest joy and recreation. Often the various tribes compete, and to see the natives in their war-paint feathers, regalia and animal skins is an interesting experience. The native music produces weird but fascinating sounds, quite obviously the grandpa of modern jazz. The natives dance until they fall exhausted or until the musicians can no longer play. Murderous weapons are flung into the air and wild war cries punctuate the music. And then one is whirled away for dinner at the newest country club.

George Clinton.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH

Clinton county, Ohio, was named after George Clinton, of New York, and not for his better-known nephew, DeWitt Clinton, who became nationally famous through the construction of the great Erie canal, though that engineering scheme originated in the mind of his uncle. George Clinton was vice president of the United States, and an outstanding national character when, on February 19, 1810, Clinton county, Ohio, was established and organized.

George Clinton was of Irish extraction and a native of Ulster county, New York. Born in 1739, he died in Washington in 1812 while serving as vice president. He studied law and entered politics. In 1768 he was elected to the New York legislature, and in 1776 he was elected a delegate to the second Continental congress. His name should have appeared among the "signers" of the Declaration but for the fact that he was called back to New York at the time by urgent needs of the militia, in which he was an officer. In the War of the Revolution he was made a brigadier general in the Colonial forces. He was elected the first governor of New York and served in that capacity for eighteen years. He held Democratic views in governmental matters, and as presiding officer of the New York state convention to act on the federal constitution of 1788, he opposed the submitted form on the ground that it gave too much power to the federal congress and to the executive.

When Washington was elected president for the first time, three votes were cast for Clinton, and four years later he was given fifty votes. He led a unit in the forces to put down the Shay rebellion, and greatly aided in quelling that outbreak. It was in 1804 that he was elected to the office of vice president, and he was still serving in that office when death overtook him in 1812, aged seventy-three years.

Thirty-three years ago Drake was lead the most remarkable foreign "invasion" ain has ever known. He came from the States in 1899 with "Bet-You-a-Million G the American trainer, Wishard, and the A ican jockeys, Johnnie and Lester Reiff.

Wishard bought an old horse, Royal for a little more than $2,000, and in the ing season Drake and Gates won half a lion collars in bets between them with horse alone.

In Drake's light blue and old gold c Royal Flush won, among other major the Royal Hunt cup at Ascot and the Stew cup at Goodwood. These coups staggered betting world and just about ruined prominent English bookmakers.

Drake raced in England for three years then returned to the United States with a tune won from the bookmakers.

The "bookies" needn't be afraid of me time," Drake told International News Ser "I have practically given up racing. The no big coup in the offing."

Nevertheless, the English bookmakers have long memories, are wondering.

Kitty, I'm telling you be- one else, except my fam- urse Phil and I are en been working in his father's bank but last month he got a position over at the power plant at Corinth and he's getting $50 a week and I'm going to take Miss Brant's place at the library and I'll get $20, so with that we can manage beautifully. We're going to live with his father and mother for awhile. They're fixing an apartment on the third floor.

'Can you come down for the wedding? Phil says he'd like Gar to stand up with him and of course I want you. It's going to be very simple, just here at the house, and we plan now that it will be in March or April. I'll write to you the moment we're decided.'

Kitty glowed and laughed over the letter. Practical Sally, putting her happiness in such a matter-of-fact way.

Of course she and Gar would go to the wedding.

She called Gar on the telephone to give him the news. But Gar was not in his office. Old Jonathan told her that Gar wouldn't be in until 4 o'clock.

Probably, Kitty exulted, he was out somewhere, 'turning' his cool thousand. She compared it, complacently, with Phil Corey's plodding.

The crisp winter's afternoon invited her out for a walk. Within a few blocks of Ketchum street she yielded to a sudden impulse to hunt David out.

He answered her ring hesitating a moment before he admitted her. But she knew by the swift lighting of his sensitive face that he was glad to see her.

'You've timed your coming by some magic," he told her. He indicated a thick flat package on his table. "There it is, ready for its fate."

'Oh, David, we'll celebrate! Let's have tea at that little place where we went before. David, when it's out, won't it show them?"

He knew what she meant. He shook his head. 'That was my trouble. I was working for that end, you see, and I was down a blind alley. I got out of it. I don't care if they never see it. I finished it to get a better opinion of myself. And now it's done maybe I won't need the scorn of a certain blue-eyed lady I know to stiffen my back-bone."

His statement, put simply, [illegible] Kitty curiously. She felt rebuked and unaccountably elated all at the same moment. "I don't think I ever was scornful about you, David," she denied quickly. And then she laughed, the color flooding her face. She was taking a great deal to herself! Dorcas' eyes were blue.

But, David, I'm glad for you. 'Jungle.' I can see it on the book stands.

He agreed that they'd celebrate. He was in a gay mood.

They drank several cups of tea and ate innumerable sandwiches.

She told him about her letter from Sally and laughed as she pictured for him Sally and Phil, the union antics.

"I'm going to have a good talk with Sally. I must warn her not to take everything so seriously." Kitty assumed a very experienced and much ma[illegible] manner. "I've found that out." She gave a little laugh. "David, have I changed a lot since that first night we met?"

He considered without any answer, the bright face opposite him.

"I can see [illegible] how I've changed," she [illegible] rather liking the review. "I must have seemed [illegible] at first."

"You were a kid, and a very lonesome one at that," David agreed grave.

"And you were so nice to me. You said then that I must be patient with Gar. And something about my standing on my two feet.

"Well, I didn't do either the one thing or the other. The first clash we had I got crazy and rushed away from Gar, went to you—"

"You call it crazy now?"

"Oh, yes, David. I wasn't patient. And I didn't stand on my two feet at all. I leaned most awfully on you!"

"You are doing [illegible] me. I thought you were rather a wonder."

"Oh, I wasn't anything of the sort. Now I'm adapting myself. And isn't that the way it should be?"

"Do you want my honest opinion?"

"Of course," she challenged.

"I liked the way you were when you were living on Ketchum street. There was something rather fine about you. I thought you were going to be—" He hesitated, bringing his brows together over a little doubt, then finished inadequately, "different."

"Oh, David!" And I was so unhappy then." She, in her turn stepped confused, a little angry.

"It's that you think just of me and not of me and Gar," she protested sharply.

He did not look at her. He nodded his head. "Exactly. I prefer to think of you and not of you and Gar."

"Well, it can't be done." She managed an unruffled tone. "Gar and I are indissolubly one." She had an irresistible desire to flaunt her security. "I'm sorry if you're disappointed in me," she finished archly.

"Did I call it that? I'm interested notwithstanding."

"Will I make copy for your next book? There will be a next, won't there?"

"Perhaps," he answered noncommittally.

She was afraid he was shutting a door on her. "What does Dorcas say now that you've finished 'Jungle'? Isn't she pleased?"

"She doesn't know."

"Oh David, you're the limit. You're hopeless!" Kitty laughed in exasperation. He was too incurably sensitive, he wouldn't tell Dorcas until he knew the manuscript was sold.

David walked with her a part of the way back to the Tudor Arms. Kitty was thinking what a pleasant afternoon they had had together.

They had turned into the street that led past the Crosby house. It stood now, in the dusk, a shadowy pile of granite with oblongs of mellow light suggesting luxurious warmth and comfort within.

An asphalt drive curved to its wide entrance. A roadster waited on the drive.

"Why—" the little word escaped Kitty. It was Gar's car. She walked along for a moment in silence.

Then: "Gar has to stop at Marge's often. They're planning the next play, you see." Her head went up, her square little chin set determinedly. She was answering herself, for David had said nothing.

"Heart of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Mary, Marion and Carolyn Are Delighted When Told of Plans for the Party.

"I'LL SEND for the girls immediately," I told Lillian. "Give me a signal if I say the wrong thing."

"Don't be absurd," she said sharply. "You're going to tell them about [illegible]. Don't pay any attention to me. I'm simply an innocent bystander making a few private observations for my own benefit."

I rang the bell for Katie and my little maid appeared promptly.

"Where are the young ladies?" I asked.

"Dey all [illegible] coom oopstairs ten minutes ago. Dey vas from playing [illegible] deck tennis," she said. "Dey say dey tak shower, und dey took some cookies and apples oop to eat after shower."

"In five more minutes they'll all be in their rooms in negligee," Lillian said. "We'd better see them upstairs, don't you think? Do you suppose they'll be together?"

"Yes to your first question. No to your second," I told her. "I think we'll find Mary in her own room alone. I haven't seen anything especial to warrant my belief, but in my opinion the entente cordiale is a bit strained between your daughter and my husband's niece."

"Yes, I've observed that little thing," she said, and she was no longer smiling. "I'm sorry, too, but I suppose it's the penalty that must be paid for a scheme such as we [illegible] among us."

"I don't think it's a penalty that will [illegible] the culmination of the scheme," I told her with more confidence than I felt. I feared that even when she knew that Mary had been simply playing a role in her pretended infatuation for Ronald, Marion, with true feminine inconsistency, would find it hard to forgive [illegible].

"Leave Us Hope"

"Yes, I do not know that inconsistency of [illegible] is confined to women. All [illegible] attempts to help [illegible] against them [illegible] may be [illegible] as to their result [illegible] seldom are conducive to strengthened friendships between either men or women."

"Leave us hope," Lillian uttered her favorite quotation jauntily, and then we went upstairs to my room. Then I went in search of the girls, finding, as I expected, that Marion and Carolyn were together and Mary [illegible].

All three were wearing fetching lounging pajamas and all were reading so comfortably that I hated to disturb them, but they put down their magazines with alacrity when I told them I had something interesting to tell them, and trooped into my room and perched themselves up [illegible] the [illegible] of the children they still are despite their grown-up airs.

They listened with the pretty deference which [illegible] to my announcement of the dinner dance, but when I had finished outlining the plans [illegible] Mr. Vert[illegible] which he had stipulated [illegible] be kept secret from as many of the guests as possible, all three of them rushed over to me and kissed me ecstatically.

"Was there ever anybody like you?" Mary [illegible] Marion and Carolyn [illegible] praises until my cheeks [illegible].

"There [illegible] fly in the ointment," Mary [illegible] when they had finally [illegible] hat is one of the guests [illegible] we couldn't have had the party without her." She [illegible] impudent eye at us.

The Fly in the Ointment

"Oh, yes, I intended to give a farewell party anyway, [illegible] you went back [illegible]. Although it is [illegible] that I share your opinion. She is a big, disagreeable [illegible] fly in the ointment, but there are reasons why I must give this party for her and her mother, so we'll all have to get on with her to the very best of our ability."

"Oh! Lovely fun," Mary [illegible]ed, with such inimitable [illegible] and such delicate venom that we laughed uproariously. And strong is my dislike for [illegible] that I felt no slightest qualm at this slur upon a prospective guest, although if it had been directed toward almost any one else I [illegible] have felt more like reproving my husband's brilliant beautiful niece than like sharing in her glee.

"Remember, now," [illegible] an admonishing forefinger. "No dirty work at the crossroads. Let the girl have her innings. Your Aunt Madge has planned to have more boys than girls [illegible] her slay her thousands."

"Don't finish the quotation," I said with a grin, and the girls snickered appreciatively.

"Is she such a [illegible] woman?" Carolyn asked.

An Exchange of Gibes

"Oh, my dear," Mar[illegible] exclaimed. "Wait till you see her. She thinks she's Cleopatra and Helen and all the [illegible] [illegible] package [illegible] escaped with only a [illegible].

She nearly sent Auntie Madge [illegible] by insisting that [illegible] your mother to [illegible] the house party. But Auntie Madge [illegible] when all those [illegible] begins burst upon [illegible] will be aplenty."

[illegible] with your hands [illegible] I imagine," Mary [illegible] but I knew that she meant the comment for [illegible] feminine exchange of [illegible] about the [illegible].

PRESSURE-COOKING MAKES NEW SHREDDED BISCUIT TASTIER

Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit Great Improvement

One of the first things to be noticed about the new, improved Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit is the unusually delightful flavor and crispness. The Kellogg Company uses a special process of "pressure-cooking." This bakes in the rich flavor. Every shred is thoroughly cooked and therefore easier to digest.

The biscuits are then toasted a light golden brown on both top and bottom—not just one side. This makes them much crisper and crunchier.

Economy has not been overlooked either. Instead of the usual dozen, you get 15 biscuits to the package. Incidentally, the biscuits are a new, convenient size—two just fit the cereal bowl.

There is also news in the fact that the Kellogg biscuit is so rich in food value that the Medical Arts Laboratory of Philadelphia certifies every package. Mothers are welcoming this improved and healthful cereal. They find it equally delightful for breakfast, lunch, or children's suppers—serving it with hot or cold milk or cream, and sometimes adding fruits or honey.

Local grocers have this new shredded biscuit. It may be identified by the familiar red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

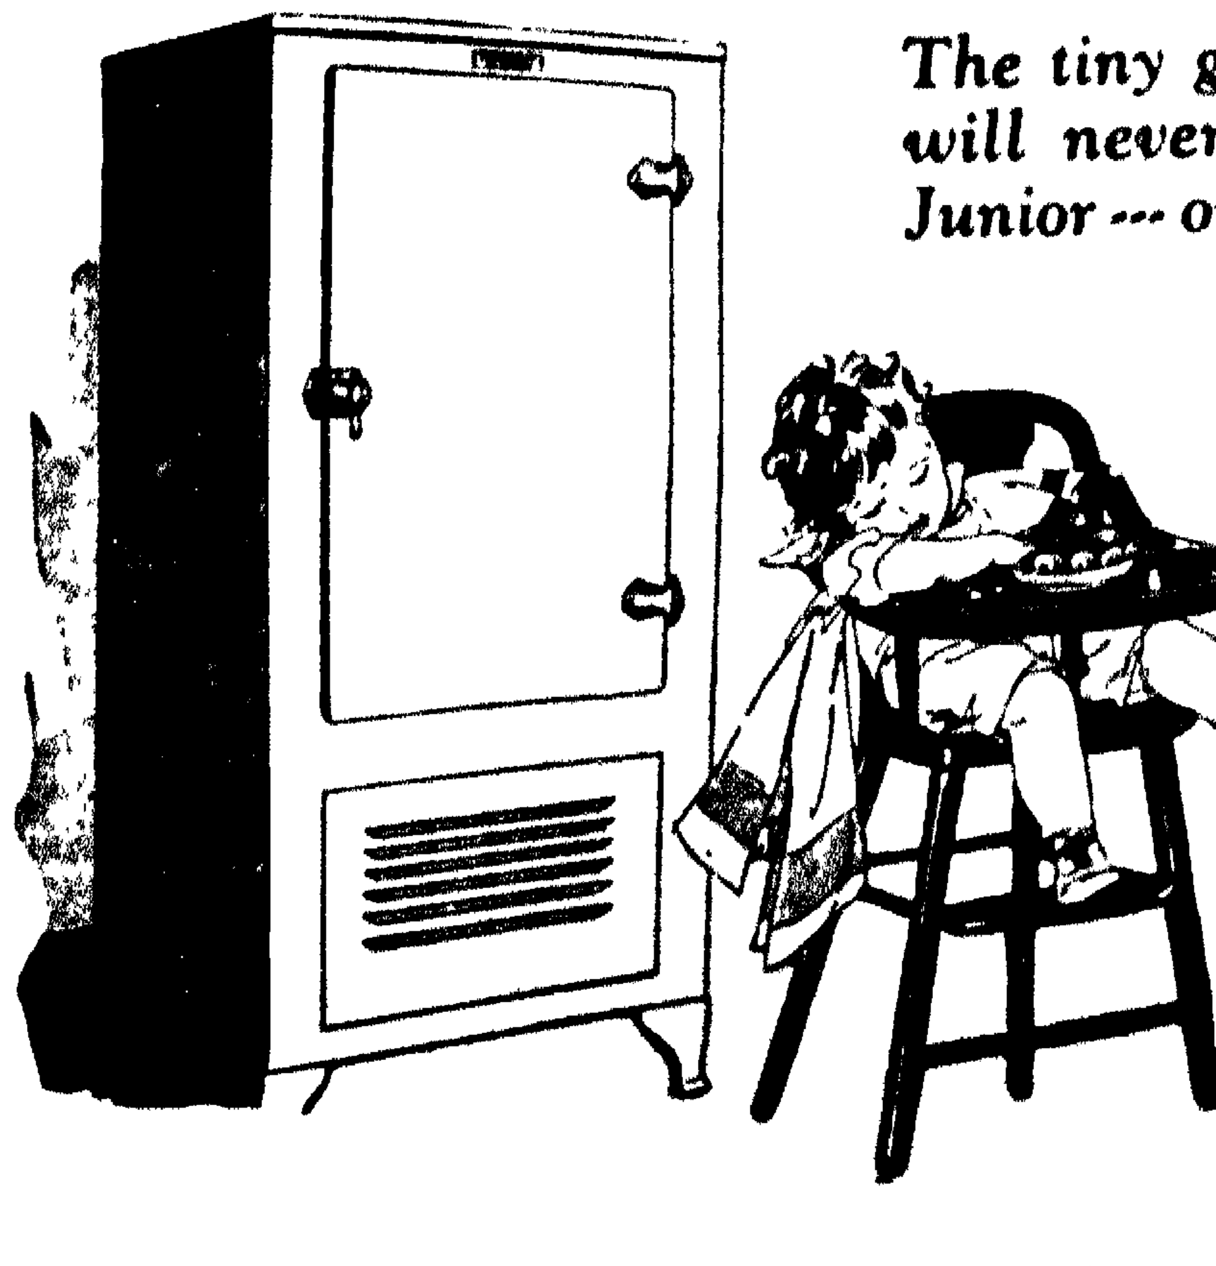
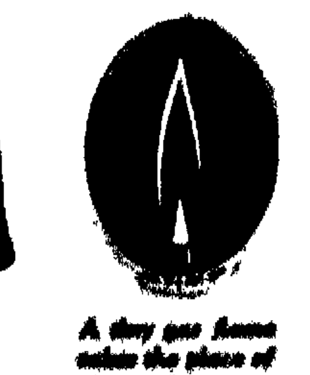
The tiny gas flame will never disturb Junior — or you





A tiny gas flame takes the place of all moving parts.

In refrigeration, as in cooking, heating and in performing other domestic tasks, GAS does the job without fuss or bother—yet does it efficiently and economically. Having no moving parts to grind, the GAS refrigerator can not make disturbing noises, and its magic-like simplicity makes possible an operating cost of less than four cents a day.

Thrifty families, in increasing numbers, are turning to their reliable domestic servant, GAS, to cut down their refrigeration cost—an important item in the family budget. National Gains on American in "Grapefruit" Loop Pla

JUNIOR CIRCUIT HAS ONLY MINOR LEAD IN PRE-SEASON SERIES

Athletics, Yanks Contribute Big Share to Advantage of Younger League.

BY HERBERT W. BARKER

Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, April 5—Just stretch this spring training season for a few more weeks and the National league might pull up on even terms with the American in their "Grapefruit" league series.

From an impressive .650 two weeks ago the American league's winning average against the National had shrunk to .581 today, based on 25 victories and 18 defeats in 43 games.

As a matter of fact had the world champion St. Louis Cardinals upheld their end, the National league might be in the lead. Of six contests with American league rivals, the Cardinals won only one.

Of the American league's 25 victories, the New York Yankees and Philadelphia Athletics have contributed nine apiece. Detroit has won four games and Boston, Washington and Cleveland one each.

The New York Giants, with three wins and one defeat, and the Phillies, with a record of four victories in six starts are the only National league clubs boasting averages of better than .500 against the junior circuit.

In games of all descriptions, major and minor league competition combined, Washington leads with 14 victories and one defeat. The Chicago White Sox and Cleveland Indians have won 12 and lost 1 each and the Boston Red Sox nine and one. The Giants lead the National league in this respect with 20 victories and eight defeats.

Around the Training Camps

By The Associated Press

FORT WORTH, Tex, April 5—Charlie Root will hurl the opener for the Cubs against Cincinnati, April 12, and Leo "Gabby" Hartnett behind the plate. Manager Rogers Hornsby selected Root to start the campaign.

* * *

NASHVILLE — Big Bob Fothergill, despite his fielding faults, probably will start in the outfield for the White Sox. He has shown symptoms of going into one of his famous spring hitting sprees and the White Sox need base hits. Against Memphis yesterday, Fothergill belted out three singles and drove in two runs as the White Sox won, 9 to 4.

* * *

PHILADELPHIA Even in their quest for the mythical championship of the city, the Athletics and the Phillis interrupted their five-game series today for games at Princeton and Reading, respectively. The city series stands at one victory apiece. The Phils beat the A's 8 to 4 Saturday and the A's licked the Phils 8 to 4 at the Phillies' park yesterday.

* * *

KANSAS CITY—The Detroit Tigers were out for revenge today, with one final chance to do something to the Kansas City Blues of the American Association, who licked them three days in a row, yesterday by a score of 14 to 7. After today, the Tigers take on major league opponents.

BIRMINGHAM — Willis Hudlin and Mel Harder were called upon to do the hurling for the Cleveland Indians today against the Birmingham club of the Southern association. Joe Vosmik, hard-hitting Cleveland outfielder, planned to be back in uniform after suffering several days with a strained side.

* * *

CINCINNATI—Confident his team is the most powerful it has been in the last two years, Manager Dan Howley will send the Cincinnati Reds against the New York Yankees this afternoon. Both teams will present their regular lineups.

* * *

"As a whole," he said as the team made its way eastward, "the team is in condition to open the season right now. I'm not predicting any pennants, but I'll admit the Giants of 1932 look good to me."

* * *

LOUISVILLE—Babe Ruth of the New York Yankees, is wielding a bat much lighter and somewhat shorter than the sticks he used to carry to the plate but the old punch is there just the same. Right now he is in the midst of a great hitting streak and opposition pitchers are having a tough time getting him out.

* * *

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—Manager Max Carey of the Brooklyn Dodgers seems to have come to the conclusion that it will never do to weaken his infield in two spots by shifting Joe Stripp, a natural third baseman, to first base in place of the ailing Del Bissonette. With Stripp at third, Wright at short and Cuccinello at second base, the Dodgers have only to worry about first.

CRACK DEVELOPS IN HOOF OF PHAR LAP

By The Associated Press

SAN BRUNO, Calif., April 5—Phar Lap, race horse sensation from Australia, is recovering from a hoof operation.

Tommy Woodcock, trainer, said the operation became necessary because of a small crack in one hoof. The slight split in the big horse's "toenail" was considered serious, because he is now competing on American dirt courses instead of on Australian turf, Woodcock explained.

The dream of every sand-lot ballplayer has become a reality to Jack Salverson (above), 18-year-old Long Beach, Cal., boy, for he has succeeded in catching the eye of a big league solon. DETROIT TURNS BIG GUNS ON PINS TODAY

Columbus Pinman Smashes Maples for 299 Score in Monday Session.

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, April 5—Detroit's heavy guns will be brought into action tonight in the thirty-second annual American Bowling Congress tournament in an effort to place Michigan more prominently in the list of "big ten" leaders.

In yesterday's competition, young John L. Winko, Columbus, Ohio, boilermaker, in rolling eleven straight strikes, brought the galleries to their toes. Only an obdurate number six pin which refused to fall on the final effort prevented Winko's making a perfect score of 300. A silver medal and a special prize of $299 rewarded his effort. Winko was paired with S. Green in the doubles when the 299 game was scored. The couple aggregated 1221 a total which places them on the regular prize list.

Jack Burke and Sammy Murray, of Chicago, scored 1278 to tie for eighth place in the doubles. Burke's 685 brought his all-events total to 1940, placing him third in that division. In a day replete with 600 scores, in the singles class, Harry C. Thompson, of Delaware, Ohio, stood out with a high score of 664.

REED GETS DECISION IN ROUGH BATTLE AT STEAM SHOVEL GYM

Sammy Vangler Disqualified for Roughness; Zikhoff Wins Semi-Final.

Last night's wrestling card at the Steam Shovel gym approached the knock-em-down and drag-em-out stage.

Robin Reed's match with Sammy Vangler was stopped shortly after the start of the final fall and the decision awarded to Reed. The little Jewish boy just couldn't restrain himself, probably having visions of being a John Kilonis of the welterweights.

Vangler won the first fall in fine shape, pinning Reed's shoulders to the mat before the fans knew what it was all about. Coming out of his corner at the gong, Vangler started using his hands, fists and knees. In 10 seconds Reed was down and out.

Vangler took plenty of punishment in the second fall. He was knocked all over the ring and then kicked out on the floor. Reed gave him everything he had and then pinned him at the end of 27 minutes with spinning wrist locks.

The final fall lasted only three minutes when the referee stopped the affair.

Maritn Zikhoff was awarded the referee's decision over Ed "Cyclone" Burns in the semi-final. The match went the full 45-minutes. Burns is one of the roughest boys seen in the ring here. He seems to care more about using his fists than the science of wrestling.

In the preliminary Fink Fox pinned Saint Cicero in five minutes.

APPROVAL PLACED ON BATTALINO FINE

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., April 5—The $5,000 fine of Bat Battalino and his suspension a few months ago by the Cincinnati Boxing commission, after a poor contest with Freddie Miller, had the approval today of the Ohio State Association of Boxing Commissions.

At yesterday's session, the association elected Joseph Chesbra of Findlay as second vice president, and Charles R. Goldswing of Dayton as a director.

Representatives were present from Hamilton, Lima, Portsmouth and Akron.

(Bill) Williams, who built up a great record as a coach of winning teams at South High school in Minneapolis, will direct Drake university's athletic affairs next year. His selection as athletic director and head coach in both football and basketball was announced late yesterday. The contract is for one year.

HURLING PLEASES PHILLIES PILOT; SUPPORT IN SIGHT FOR "CHUCK" KLEIN

BY BURTON E. SHOTTON

(Manager, Philadelphia Nationals)

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., — My firm belief that the Phillies are stronger equipped for this year's National league race is not based on casual optimism.

I can see definite improvement, especially in the outfield and pitching departments. In addition we have some real reserve power to keep the club going if and when trouble develops.

It looks very much as though we have picked up three unusually good young pitchers in Reg Grabowski, signed as a free agent; Roy Hansen, a tall southpaw from Dallas, and Edgar Holley, righthander from Kansas City. They have shown me a lot of stuff in the first few weeks of training.

Depends on "Big Four"

We will be better fixed than at any time in years in the box if one or two of these fellows come through to help my "big four"—Ray Benge, Phil Collins, Clise Dudley and Jim Elliott. These four regulars won 53 games for us last year, and they should add at least 12 or 15 more this season.

The only real first class outfielder we have had for two years is Chuck Klein, who looks better now than ever. But I should get some real support as well as punch from Hal Lee, George Davis, from St. Paul, and either Fred Brickell or Rube Bressler. Bressler can fill in with the outfield or at first base in an emergency besides doing the pinch-hitting.

I like the way Davis has come along. This boy has had plenty of seasoning and may do us a lot of good.

Infield No Worry

The infield looks good to me with Hurst, Mallon, Martell and Whitney on the job. Mallon is a much improved ball player, especially at the bat. Whitney is in better health than last season. Barney Friberg can handle the utility job, and I believe we can use George Knothe, who came up from New Orleans.

We have a real young backstop, with a fine arm, in Al Todd, from Dallas. He will help Virgil Davis and Harry McCurdy.

I am not cocky about our chances of doing better than seventh. There are no soft spots in this league, but I do feel we have a chance to win a lot of games that slipped away from us previously, due to pitching or defensive weakness.

RAY BENGE
BURT SHOTTON
CHUCK KLEIN

NEW YORK, TORONTO OPEN HOCKEY SERIES

Rangers, Maple Leafs Clash in Gotham for Historic Stanley Cup.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 5—Two of major league hockey's most powerful arrays, the New York Rangers, National league champions, and the Toronto Maple Leafs, open their series for the Stanley cup here tonight.

The cup, emblematic of world professional hockey supremacy, will go to the team first winning three games in the five-game series. All contests will be played to a decision with "sudden death" overtime in the event the rivals are tied at the end of the regulation three periods.

After the opening game the Rangers will take their second "home" game to Boston Thursday night since Madison Square Garden will not be available. The third game will be played in Toronto Saturday night and the fourth and fifth, if necessary, at Toronto Tuesday and Thursday of next week.

CAMPBELL, FROST IN MAT SHOW FEATURE

"Wild Red" Campbell will take on Jack Frost in the one hour time limit main go wrestling match of the Golden Ruled athletic club on Silver street Wednesday night. The club will present an all-wrestling card this week.

"Skeets" Frazier and Tony Caprino will clash in the semi-final bout of 45 minutes duration. Other bouts will be as follows: Jimmy Wren vs. Young Cicero, 30 minutes; Don Weston vs. Joe Roberts, 20 minutes; Stevie Stevens vs. Buck Elliott, 15 minutes and Dick Bartlett vs. Fred Massie, 10 minutes.

Forest Lawn To Meet.

The Forest Lawn Presbyterian church recreational baseball team will meet tonight at the church on East Center street to organize for the coming season. All players of last year and prospective players of this season are urged to be present. Stanley McCombs captained the Forest Lawn team in 1931 and Jim O'Dowd managed the club. The team competes in the No. 2 Sunday school loop.

Park Meeting Delayed.

The meeting of the city park board, scheduled for tonight, has been postponed for a short time. Inability of one of the three commission members to be present forced the postponement. The board will meet within the near future, Dr. F. R. Mann, chairman of the board, said today.

Bishops To Meet.

The Epworth Bishops will meet tonight at the Y. M. C. A. at 8 p. m. to organize for the coming season. The club will name a manager for the season. Jimmy Lingo, Jr. will captain the Bishops this year. All members of the squad are urged to be present tonight.

Lott Declines Post on Davis Cup Team

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, April 5—The press of personal affairs on a young Chicago business man may prove a severe blow to the United States in this year's Davis cup competition.

It probably will break up the Lott-Van Ryn combination which holds the Wimbledon doubles title and won the Davis cup doubles against England last year.

George M. Lott disclosed the situation yesterday in a telegram to the sports editor of a Philadelphia newspaper which said: "I am retiring from Davis cup competition this year for business reasons."

With the ranking No. 2 player unavailable, Wilmer Allison appears to be the strongest candidate to support John Van Ryn in the doubles. He recently won the Pan-American championship and probably will be in the running for both singles and doubles berths.

NURMI SUSPENSION CAUSES RESENTMENT

Finland Astonished, but Willing To Probe Charges Against Runner.

By The Associated Press

HELSINGFORS, Finland, April 5—The Finnish Athletic association is willing and ready to investigate the amateur status of Paavo Nurmi although astonished at the International Amateur Athletic federation's "extraordinary if not offensive action" in suspending the famous long distance running ace.

A formal statement, issued by the Finnish association last night, criticized the international federation for taking what it termed unconstitutional action against Nurmi but expressed a willingness to investigate the great runner's standing.

Finnish officials maintained the international body had no right to take direct action against Nurmi without waiting for the Finnish association's report on the results of its investigation into Nurmi's status.

Buckeyes Name Pilot.

COLUMBUS, O., April 5—Howard Mattison of Erie, Pa., has been named captain of Ohio State university basketball team for 1932-33. He has played guard for two years.

STOCK MARKET AGAIN SLUMPS

S... Slip Downward for ...onsecutive Session of Trading.

...Associated Press

...RK, April 5—For the ... session the stock ...rnly persisted in its ... of new low territory ...s today.

...n providing any sustained impetus, yester... ...ring movement ap... ...y to have weakened ... technical position. ...ropped rather precipi... comparatively light ...ume. The market ... after announcement of the Santa Fe dividend, but failed to develop much recuperative power.

Santa Fe tumbled 7½ points to 53⅝, the lowest since 1901, then rebounded more than 2. Union Pacific and Norfolk & Western skidded 6 and 7 points, before meeting support. American Telephone approximated its bear market low with a 3-point drop. Rails and utilities were again the notably weak groups, with Peoples Gas a soft spot in the latter. American Can, American Tobacco "B", Allied Chemical, DuPont, Drug, Consolidated Gas, Standard Gas, American Water Works, North American and New York Central tumbled lower. Losses of a point or so were numerous.

Brokerage comment remained gloomy. In fact gloom has grown so deep in Wall street that at least one group of investment trusts has started to do a little cautious buying, on the theory that pessimism has reached an unjustified extreme which would eventually necessitate a reaction.

Santa Fe's ordering of a quarterly dividend of $1, after paying $1.50 three months ago and $2.50 previously, was not unexpected. The management announced, however, that further payments would depend upon improved earnings. Advance estimates of the weekly freight car loadings report, to appear tomorrow, indicated a substantial reduction, cancelling much of the improvement of the preceding two weeks.

WHEAT MARKET GETS SETBACK

Prices Slump Downward in Response to Decline of Securities.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 5—Influenced by New York stock market downturns and by relative weakness of wheat quotations at Liverpool, grain prices suffered a material setback early today. Forecasts of showers in Nebraska counted also as a bearish factor. Opening ⅝@1¼ off, Chicago wheat futures held near the initial range. Corn started at ⅝@⅞ decline and continued to sag.

Acting as a curb on wheat price declines was continued dry weather throughout most of the winter crop belt west and southwest. Crop damage complaints from Kansas included reports of wheat fields which had been thinned 50 per cent and which if unimproved within a week would be plowed up and be replanted with corn. Other advices from Kansas said wheat was not as responsive as it should be to growing weather, and that apparently damage was irreparable.

Reports of some plowing up of wheat in Texas were received from Fort Worth. A summary of messages from various points said bad crop conditions were shown in the western third of Kansas, Oklahoma and Nebraska, but that this was territory where the trade had not been expecting much of a yield anyway. It was added that good general rains would change the picture materially. Corn and oats reflected downturns in wheat.

Provisions went lower with hog values.

PATTERN 2177

Step-by-Step Instruction Diagrams Given with This Pattern

When this frock and bolero get together, the result is stunning, yet each may be worn without the other. And don't forget that such an ensemble gives your wardrobe the appearance of being much larger than it really is. The frock is sleeveless and extremely smart with its inserted tucks in front. The bolero consists of just two pieces and is, of course, put together in a jiffy. Delightful in cotton or silk.

Pattern 2177 is obtainable only in sizes 13, 14 to 20 and 31, 32 to 42. Size 16 requires 3¾ yards of 36-inch fabric, ⅝ yards contrasting.

COUPON

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents. Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to the pattern department THE MARION STAR BUREAU, Pattern Fashion Syndicate, Inc., 243 West 17th St., New York City.

POST TO VOTE ON BONUS QUESTION

Local Veterans Will Express Opinions on Immediate Cash Payments.

A week from tonight, members of Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162 will ballot on the question of whether the national government should pay at once approximately $2,000,000 to World war veterans. The bonuses are due in future years, but agitation by a part of the members of the organization has made immediate payment of the money a moot question.

Indications are that members of the local post will discuss both sides of the question before a secret ballot is taken, J. W. Llewellyn, local post commander, said. Arguments will be limited to three minutes each.

Judging from the marked division of sentiment among members of the local post, balloting will not be altogether one sided, members have said.

Proposals that the Legion as an organization request congress to make the bonus payments immediately have been frowned on by the national and state departments of the organization.

CHEVALIER PICTURE HAS THE SPARKLE OF OTHER PRODUCTIONS

Supported by a cast that includes Jeanette MacDonald, Genevieve Tobin, Charlie Ruggles and Roland Young, the singing, laughing, loving Frenchman, Maurice Chevalier opened at the Palace last night for a four-day run in his latest vehicle, "One Hour With You." If you like the happy Frenchman, you will like "One Hour With You."

Directed by Ernst Lubitsch, the picture has all the charm of "The Love Parade" and "The Smiling Lieutenant" and is given an unusual touch by confidential chats direct with the audience by the French star.

The story centers around the experience of a young French physician, Chevalier, who is happily married to Jeanette MacDonald. That is they are happily married until Chevalier accidentally meets the beautiful Genevieve Tobin.

Chevalier determines to be a model husband, however, and discourages her advances until his wife charges him with an affair with a Mlle Martel played by Josephine Dunn. Roland Young, husband of Genevieve, decides to take advantage of Chevalier's attentions to his wife to apply for a divorce naming Chevalier as the co-respondent.

In the meantime Jeanette suspects all is not well between her friend and her husband. To get even she pretends an affair with Charlie Ruggles. All ends happily however, when both decide to settle down.

A comedy, a travelogue and a singing cartoon, are also in the program.

The Stars Say—

For Wednesday, April 6.

ACCORDING to the powerful lunar aspects holding sway, this day may prove to be a very eventful and memorable one, and one not entirely of happy memories. There may be sudden upheavals, attended by much commotion and stirring about, with possible change of employment, business associations and surroundings. It is suggested that great care be taken to avoid litigation, misrepresentation, slander and personal danger. Sign all writings cautiously.

Those whose birthday it is are likely to have a year of unexpected visitations, involving change in employment, associates and environment. A child born on this day should be talented, original, adventurous, investigating in unusual lines and exploring unknown places. It may attain eminence in these directions.

Notable Nativity: Houdini, magician.

COLLEGE WOMEN WIN IN ORATORY

By International News Service

SPRINGFIELD, O., April 5 — What is considered "something of a record" in intercollegiate oratorical contests has been established by women students of Wittenberg college.

Here it is:

Seven Women orators have won six first places and two second places in eight years.

Three of the orators are teaching public speaking in high schools; two are married and mothers; two are still undergraduates at Wittenberg college.

The teachers are: Miss Ethel Wisehart, first place winner in 1925, now in Ann Arbor, Mich. High school; Miss Elsie Wetzel, first place winner in 1926 and tied for first place in 1927, now in Long Branch, N. J. High school; Miss Rebecca Wirick, first place winner in 1930, now in Van Buren, O. High school.

The mothers are: Mrs. Louise Holt Slater, first place winner in 1929, now living in Wilkinsburg, Pa., and Mrs. Louise Richison Price, second place in 1928, now living in Barberton, O.

The students are: Miss Roxana Hutchings of Springfield, second place winner in 1931, and Miss Greta Bergquist of Swissvale, Pa., first place winner in 1932.

STATE INSPECTOR IS CLUB SPEAKER

Y's Men's Club Hears Story of Ohio Penitentiary Fire Investigation.

Joseph T. Clear of Eton, O., an inspector for the state board of optometry, and leader in the investigation leading to the conviction of two inmates for starting the disastrous Ohio penitentiary fire, related interesting bits of his experience in the investigation, and discussed various phases of penitentiary operation in a talk to members of the Y's Men's Service club in the Y. M. C. A. last night.

Mr. Clear exhibited to members of the club some samples of the home-made weapons taken from prisoners in the institution. One was a knife used by one of the men who started the penitentiary fire, and which, incidentally, the prisoner had threatened to use on Clear.

One interesting incident concerned the single prisoner who escaped during the penitentiary fire. The prisoner was a nurse, and was dressed in white, as were many physicians who answered the calls for aid. He hurriedly hung a stethoscope around his neck while the fire raged, equipped himself with a medicine kit, and walked from the prison proper into the front office. There he met a physician, who offered to give him a ride uptown. On the way, the prisoner not only continued his disguise but succeeded in borrowing $10. He was captured in Cleveland where he went to visit a former sweetheart.

POE AND KILMER FAVORITE POETS

By The Associated Press

GRANVILLE, O., April 5 — The modern poets must take a back seat so far as students of English at Denison university are concerned.

Freshmen English classes at the university have voted Edgar Allan Poe as their favorite poet, with Joyce Kilmer, the author of "Trees" who was killed during the World war, as second choice.

The "Raven" by Poe was voted the best poem.
